Good morning,

Can you somehow plug me in with Mike N. and Karen R. so I participate in the development of your legislative agenda and budget? I'd like to play a meaningful role in these as your LG. And, I see it as necessary for a more seamless transition months from now with the VP potential you have.

Hi Mr. McAllister or Whom It May Concern...

We know this is a long shot...thought we'd give it a try...so, hopefully; this email will reach you and Gov. Sarah Palin. You all are on our hearts, we are praying for the Palin's - and your whole team!

Pasted below are a few relevant devotionals we have sent to our subscribers over the past few months. We thought you may be the best judge of whether some of the attached devos below would be encouraging to Sarah during this crazy media and political battle. So, if you feel these short, little edevos would encourage her, please feel free to pass them on. If not, that's fine...just know that Sarah has friends in Michigan! You all are on our hearts, we are praying for her - and all of you - as the election day approaches. Be strong!

Blessings,

today: sound bites

Peter asked Jesus, "What about him, Lord?" Jesus replied, "If I want him to remain alive until I return, what is that to you? You follow me." So the rumor spread among the community of believers that that disciple wouldn't die. But that isn't what Jesus said at all. He only said, "If I want him to remain alive until I return, what is that to you?"

John 21:21-23, NLT

The rumor spread. Don't believe everything you hear! In this season of political frenzy, election sound-bites, liberal and anti-Christian agendas - don't accept everything hook, line and sinker! Ever "heard it through the grapevine" - only to discover that the grapevine was polluted?

Maybe you've been the target of defamatory comments. If you've ever been misquoted and taken out of context, you're in good company - Jesus was, too! He dealt with the plague of misinformation. On numerous occasions the authorities thought they had it right about Jesus and the things He said...but they were often wrong.

Sad to say, these days you can't trust many of the headlines, editorials or reporting that's done in the name of fairness. There always seems to be a bias in this culture of sound bites, video clips, organizational motives and political spin. Unfortunately, there are many that can't tolerate the "good news" so...they resort to mocking, scorning and sarcasm. Misinformation, rumor and the grapevine does damage. The bummer is that good people get hurt; bad people get notoriety and the average citizen never gets the truth.

Sometimes a completely innocent person is the brunt of terrible grapevine lies...Jesus, for example! Also, a Christian named Stephen was the object of blatant lies: "They produced false witnesses, who testified, 'This fellow never stops speaking against this holy place and against the law. For we have heard him say that this Jesus of Nazareth will destroy this place and change the customs Moses handed down to us.' " (Acts 6:13-14) They lied and it cost Stephen his life.

Sometimes a completely guilty person is the object of a runaway rumor...some of the Lord's favorite people really messed up...Moses, David, Peter and Paul. Can you imagine what the rumors or six o'clock headlines might have been back in the day? The Lord extended great mercy and continued to use them mightily.

In the Christian world there is a grapevine. Don't start a rumor and don't believe the grapevine! Sometimes, believers hear one juicy tidbit and the suspicion, accusations or dissing begins! Don't do it. Love believes the best. No matter what you hear – it's not the whole truth. If you've been misrepresented by others, Proverbs give us great comfort... "The man who sets a trap for others will get caught in it himself. Roll a boulder down on someone, and it will roll back and crush you." (Prov. 26:27 NLT) Whoever digs a pit for others will fall into it himself. Retribution belongs to the Lord.

The summary: Believe the best about everyone.

Say This:

"Father, I will believe the best about others. I will do unto others as I would like them to do to me. I pray for those who are in the spotlight, particularly ____________________ . (If you know someone who's been facing pressure, going through the rumor mill, being misquoted or crucified in the press insert their name here.) I ask You to strengthen them in their inner being today and help them to move forward in confidence, integrity and faith in You. In Jesus' Name. Amen."

Subject: Everyone Is A Critic

If you have trouble viewing this message, please go to: http://edevos.bethjones.org

"get a grip" daily e-devo with beth jones

today:

everyone is a critic

"You shall hide them in the secret place of Your presence from the plots of man;you shall keep them secretly in a pavilion from the strife of tongues."

Psalm 31:20, NKJV

People will always have an opinion about you. Some people will feel the need to tell you their opinion! The cowards rant, rave and don't sign their letters. The average critic foams at the mouth and tells you all the reasons they are so smart and you are so dumb. People who love you will speak the truth – in love.

Anyone been criticizing you lately? We get our share, just like you! Why is it that fifty people can tell you they love your company, product, sermon, song, family or kids, but one person can cut you like a knife with a vicious comment? So, how do we respond – short of transforming into King Kong and slapping them upside the head?

For the constructive critics – those who love you: Evaluate. If there is any morsel of truth in their criticism...then adjust accordingly.

For the negative critics – usually those who are jealous and envious of your growth and success: Follow Rick Warren's advice: "When you're small, they'll dismiss you; when you're growing, they'll criticize you; and when you're large, they'll resent you. So ignore 'them' and get on with whatever God has told you to do!"

Fortunately, God doesn't allow us to hear most critics...He hides us in His Presence from the strife of tongues! Today, the bottom line, whether people are being critical of your business, church, faith, family, hair or home is this: "...ignore 'them' and get on with whatever God has told you to do!"

Say This:

"Father, I want to live a life that is pleasing to You – and You alone. Help me to listen to the constructive advice from people who love me and thank You for hiding me from the strife of tongues by those who don't. I plan to ignore the negative critics and I'll get on with all that You have called me to do. In Jesus' Name. Amen."

today: whose opinion matters?

"The fear of human opinion disables; trusting in GOD protects you from that."
Proverbs 29:25, Message

Living for an Audience of One is the secret to being truly free. When we live to please the Lord and walk in a manner worthy of Him...that's all that really matters. We need to be reminded of this from time to time.

It's true, the fear of human opinion disables. When we are overly concerned about what others think -- whether we meet with their approval or disapproval – our judgment becomes blurred and we veer from our core values. When we find ourselves saying or doing things merely to please people or not saying or doing things to please people, we become men-pleasers rather than God-pleasers.

So, what do we do? Seek God's approval and accept the fact that we'll never have a 100% approval rating from others. Be okay with that.

John, who addressed this topic when he spoke about some religious leaders of his day, said it best, "Yet at the same time many even among the leaders believed in Him. But because of the Pharisees they would not confess their faith for fear they would be put out of the synagogue; for they loved praise from men more than praise from God." (John 12:42-43)

Human opinion can be fickle, so go for praise that comes from God! It's possible that everyone will have an opinion about you – and the more the Lord uses you, the more opinions there will be! Don't be disabled by the opinions of others; trust the Lord and accept these truths...

1. Some people like you; some people don't.

2. Some people admire and respect you; some people despise and hate you.

3. Some people agree with you; some people like to argue with you.

4. Some people encourage you; some people criticize and tear you down.

5. Some people rejoice with you; some people rain on your parade.

6. Some people are thrilled with the changes in your life; some people dismiss it.

7. Some people love to see you break out of stereotypical paradigms; some people get mad.

8. Some people approve of your spouse, kids, hair, clothes, hobbies, style; some people dislike the whole package.

9. Some people see your potential; some people are threatened by it.

10. Some people are happy when you're blessed and successful; some people are jealous.

So, what do we do? Let's go for the praise that comes from God! If you've found the opinions of others disabling you – make a change today. Trust in the Lord. When you are confident and clear in your heart that your decisions, actions and words are pleasing to the Lord then move forward – full steam ahead!

Say This:

"Father, I know that everyone will have an opinion of me. Help me to not be overly concerned with the opinions of others; but rather help me to trust in You. Your opinion is the one that matters the most to me. Help me to live my life in a way that pleases You. In Jesus' Name. Amen."

today: feel like you're goin' through hell?

For thou wilt not leave my soul in hell...
Psalm 16:10, KJV

Going through a rough time? There is light at the end of the tunnel...hang on!

It was the hardest season of our ministry and married life and it seemed like we were hit on every front. It felt like "hell on earth"! We were parents of four preschoolers, pioneering a church that didn't seem to be growing, living in a microscopic house, surviving sleep deprivation and the pressures of life and ministry on a serious shoestring budget! It sure didn't feel like "the blessings" were falling in our lives at that time – it felt like we had been forgotten, overlooked and sentenced to outer darkness! As it turns out, it was a season of sheer faith, obedience and endurance.

Somehow this verse of Scripture comforted my soul! Pitiful, isn't it?

Sometimes we just need to know that deliverance is on the horizon. I know it's tough sometimes. There are rough seasons where life can feel like all of hell is against us. We all face those times. Be encouraged...the Lord promised that He will never leave you or forsake you! Be strong and full of hope today and know that the Lord is working to deliver you from "hell"!

Say This:

"Father thank You for Your promise of deliverance. I will keep my eyes on You and I know that you will bring me through this season of "hell" to the other side! I trust in You and Your Word. In Jesus' Name. Amen."

Subject: Oral Argument Scheduled Haeg v. Cole

Important

Dear Governor Palin & staff,

Supreme Court Oral Arguments in Haeg v. Cole are scheduled for October 7, 2008 at 1:30 p.m. It will be held in Anchorage at the Boney Courthouse, 303 K. Street - 5th floor.

Cole & I are getting 15 minutes each and the proceedings will be broadcast by cable & public television throughout the State.

We are planning on meeting at the Snow Goose restaurant afterward, like before (they also have parking within walking distance to the courthouse).

I respectfully ask as many people as possible to come - with all of you asking the media to come. Craig Medred wrote a great article in the ADN about the last oral argument - It's a Complicated, Ugly Case Against Guide David Haeg

If you want to have an idea what this oral argument is about please read my reply brief located on the website at Appellant's Reply Brief.

As always I am in your debt.
